Brookgreen Gardens Tour

Enjoy the unique and unspoiled setting of the creeks accessible to visitors only on our 48-foot pontoon boat, The Springfield. This exclusive experience includes an interpreter who talks about the tidal creeks, surrounding land and significant history of the colonial rice plantations that once made up Brookgreen Gardens. Then a guide will stroll the gardens and describe the history of Brookgreen Gardens and the sculpture of Anna Hyatt Huntington and other sculptors. Boxed lunch provided.

Sweetgrass Basketweaving @ Hopeswee Plantation

Sweetgrass basket making was brought to the South Carolina Lowcountry by slaves who came from West Africa and has been a traditional art form passed on from generation to generation from mother to daughter to granddaughter. During the days of slavery, rice cultivation and the flourishing plantations off the Old South, these baskets were in great demand for agricultural purposes. Classes include all materials and instruction and last three hours.
